Bureau Joins ANA in Dallas for an Early Spring Convention

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing (Bureau) will participate in the American Numismatic Association's (ANA) Early Spring Convention. The event will be held at the Dallas Infomart Conference and Exhibition Center, March 1-3, 1991 in Dallas, Texas.

An unusual collection of antique currency, a special display, and the ever popular billion dollar exhibit will be featured at the Bureau's booth. Sheets of uncut currency, shredded currency and a special show souvenir card will be available for sale.

ANA Souvenir Card

The ANA souvenir card bears the intaglio imprint of a $2 United States Note (face), series 1917. The note features a remarkable portrait of Thomas Jefferson and a beautifully engraved vignette of the Capitol. Engraving is credited to C. Burt (Jefferson's portrait), L. Delnoce (vignette of the Capitol) with J. Eissler and E.M. Hall completing the note. Prior to and including the 1917 issue of this note, there were several different types of notes issued, distinguished by color, seal placement and embellishments.

The blind embossed figure of "Freedom" was created from a photograph of the plaster model, used to cast the bronze statue which surmounts the Dome of the Capitol. The Statue of Freedom was designed by Thomas Crawford in 1856 and cast in Washington, D.C. by Clark Mills in 1858. Placement of the 19'6" statue was completed December 2, 1863.

An order form for this souvenir card is attached for your convenience. The Bureau reserves the right to limit the quantities and set conditions under which this item is sold.

Background Information on Thomas Jefferson

Best known for drafting the Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson's contribution to democracy extends beyond that document. While the Declaration provided a model of intellectual and moral force for the revolution, two other documents left a more lasting impression in the fiber of our nation. The Virginia statute on religious freedom established the principle of absolute separation of church and state and the Northwest Ordinance provided a mechanism for the growth of our nation, admitting new states on an equal basis with the old. It also guaranteed individual rights and prohibited slavery.

Jefferson held many offices of distinction, from serving as minister to France, to President of the United States. However, it is believed that he was "as proud of founding a university as of founding a nation." He believed in the principle of intellectual freedom and drafted statutes in the Virginia legislature which supported public libraries and schools. "Jefferson's concern for the people was manifest in his belief in education and essential freedoms, and he turned the nation in the direction of democracy."

SPECIAL NOTE:

Exhibit coordinators of the International Paper Money Show (IPMS) have informed the Bureau that show dates have been changed to June 14-17, 1991. Please amend your exhibit schedule to reflect this change. Look forward to a news release announcing the Bureau's participation in IPMS and the sale of a special show card.

Fort Worth Dedication Card Available at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing

A new intaglio print of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing's Western Currency Facility makes its premier appearance on a wholly engraved Dedication Card. This limited edition of 5,000 cards is entitled "Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Western Currency Facility, Fort Worth, Texas," and features engravings of past homes of the Bureau; a vignette of the Treasury Department (Original Home 1862-1880), the First Building (1880-1914), Main Building (1914), and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing Annex (1938) with the central vignette of the new facility. The card, Item #4050, is available at the Bureau's Visitors Center in Washington D.C. for $25.00 and through the mail for $27.50.

April 26, 1991 marked the formal dedication of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing's Fort Worth, Texas currency printing plant. The Western Currency Facility began production of paper currency earlier this year. By 1994 this facility will produce 4.5 million notes or about 40 percent of the Nation's annual currency supply. The facility currently employs approximately 275 individuals and will increase staff to 540 by 1994.

Engraved Vignettes

The Bureau's original home from 1862 to 1880 was the Main Treasury Building located at 15th and Pennsylvania Ave. N.W., Washington, D.C. The vignette (miscellaneous die #283) was engraved in 1869 by Lorenzo J. Hatch and has appeared on a number of items from an Oleo Margarine Stamp Special Tax and coupon bonds to an Internal Revenue Inspector's Commission certificate.

The Bureau's First Building, occupied from 1880 to 1914, (miscellaneous die #2720) was engraved in 1880 by Lorenzo J. Hatch and F.H. Noyes. This die was once used on the plate printer's ball ticket in 1884 and was again used on the Pan American Exhibition souvenir piece in 1901. Part of this building is still standing and is currently occupied at 14th and Independence Ave. S.W., Washington, D.C.

Continued.....

The Main Building, occupied in 1914, is still in use today. The vignette of this building (miscellaneous die #16516) was engraved in 1950 by Herbert F. Fichter. Although we know little of its past use, we do know that the vignette has been used on in-house certificates and as a sales item in the Bureau's Visitors Center. The engraving is believed to have been based on an early photograph.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing Annex Building vignette (miscellaneous die #16524) was engraved in 1952 by Matthew D. Fenton. The composition of this engraving evolved from an architectural drawing by H.S. Chandler, Jr., dated February 21, 1936. Chandler's rendering was redrawn by Bureau designer C.E. Chickering for the final model.

The final and central vignette (miscellaneous die # 187587-2) is the Western Currency Facility. This most current die was engraved this year by Thomas Hipschen based on a model prepared by Bureau designer Jack Ruther. The model was based on an architectural rendering and several photographs of the facility.

Rare Note Featured at IPMS

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing will participate in the International Paper Money Show (IPMS) in Memphis, Tennessee at the Cook Convention Center, June 14-16, 1991. The very popular "Billion Dollar Display" will be there to fascinate everyone. A new display of the Dedication Ceremony at the Fort Worth facility is also being developed for IPMS. Sales items will include uncut sheets of currency, shredded currency, and a very special souvenir card.

The subject of the IPMS souvenir card is a $20 Treasury Note (face), series 1890, which features the portrait of John Marshall. Marshall served as Secretary of State under John Adams, but is better known for his service as a Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Charles Schlecht is credited with engraving Marshall's portrait. W.A. Copenhaver, D.M. Cooper, J.R. Hill, E.M. Hall, E.E. Myers, W.H. Dongal, and G.U. Rose completed the balance of the engraving on the note. Treasury notes, short lived in terms of circulation (1890-1893) are extremely rare.

The blind embossed figure of "Freedom" was created from a photograph of the plaster model, used to cast the bronze statue which surmounts the Dome of the Capitol. The Statue of Freedom was designed by Thomas Crawford in 1856 and cast in Washington, D.C. by Clark Mills in 1858. Placement of the nineteen foot six inch statue was completed December 2, 1863.

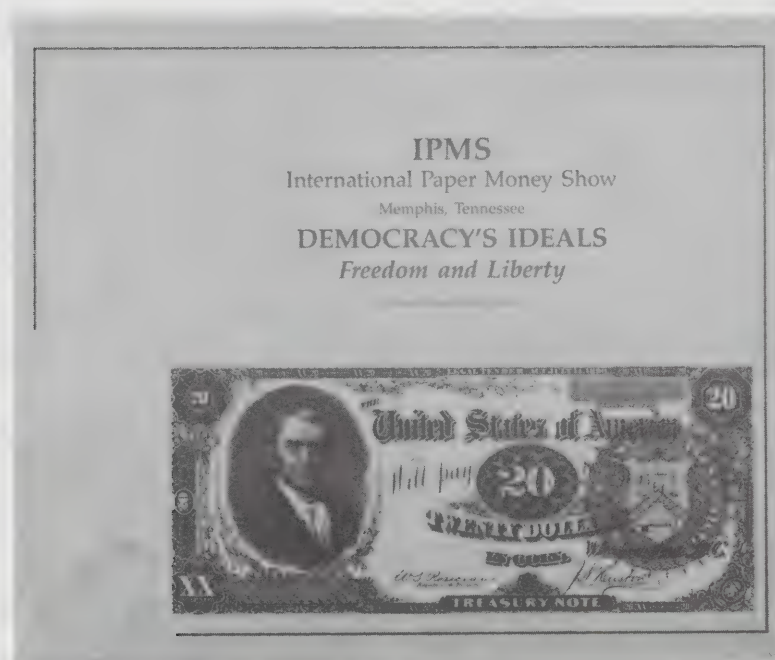

Although he was not a signer of the Declaration of Independence or the Constitution, John Marshall's contribution to the new nation brought stability to the Government by "establishing the authority of the Court as co-equal with the Legislative and Executive" branches, thus establishing a system of checks and balances so unique to our democracy. This equalizing effect on the newly formed government was brought about by Marshall's intellect when applied to interpreting the Constitution. He, by the veracity of his decisions, made the Court the "recognized interpreter of the Constitution." "T(t)he Constitution as we know it is, in large measure, Marshall's interpretation of it." He is still reknown as a constitutional lawyer, a century and a half later.

An order form for this souvenir card is attached for your ordering convenience. The Bureau reserves the right to limit the quantities sold and set conditions under which this item is sold.

1991-1992 Duck Stamp Souvenir Card Set
Available at BEP July 1, 1991

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing (BEP) is proud to announce its participation in the sale of the Duck Stamp Souvenir Card Set. The Duck Stamp Souvenir Card Set which includes the $15.00 Duck Stamp is available through the mail at a cost of $22.50 (order form is attached for your convenience). Supplies of this card are very limited and the Bureau reserves the right to limit the number of cards sold to any individual or organization.

The souvenir card as part of this set is issued in conjunction with the annual issue and contest for the Duck Stamp, the sale of which has raised funds for the protection of our Nation's wildlife habitat since the Duck Stamp Program began in 1934. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing has designed, engraved and printed these beautiful stamps from the program's inception.

This year's stamp features a pair of King Eiders in their natural habitat. Artist Nancy Howe is the first woman to win the Federal Duck Stamp Contest and is the creator of the original art for this stamp. Peter Cocci, Bureau Designer/Modeler, created a miniature rendition of the original art for a working model. The three dimensional effect on this stamp was created by Bureau picture engraver, Gary Chaconas.

Bureau's New Exhibit and Live Demonstrations
Go to the ANA Convention

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing will be attending the American Numismatic Association's 100th Anniversary Convention at the Rosemont O'Hare Exposition Center which is nearly adjacent to Chicago's O'Hare Airport on 555 North River Road, Rosemont, Illinois, August 13 - August 18, 1991. The Bureau will be bringing three live, interactive displays to help ANA celebrate this special occasion. Paper Making, a 19th century hand operated "Spider Press", Mutilated Currency, rare and unusual specimens of U.S. paper money, and the Numismatic Stamp Display are all part of the Bureau's exhibit.

The Souvenir Card -

The Bureau's souvenir card reproduces a $5000 United States Note (face), series of 1878 with the engraved portrait of James Madison. Alfred Sealey is credited with the engraving of Madison's portrait. United States Notes, originally issued in 1862, represent the first National Currency. An Act of May 31, 1878 and the Old Series Adjustment Act require that $346,681,016 worth of United States Notes remain in circulation. This requirement remains in effect today, pending enactment of legislation to repeal it. The United States Treasury has not placed any of the more recently produced notes in circulation since January 21, 1971.

The blind embossed figure of "Freedom" was created from a photograph of the plaster model, used to cast the bronze statue which surmounts the Dome of the Capitol. The Statue of Freedom was designed by Thomas Crawford in 1856 and cast in Washington, D.C. by Clark Mills in 1858. Placement of the nineteen-foot, six-inch statue was completed December 2, 1863.

Intaglio Print -

The Bureau's final Intaglio Print for 1991 will be issued at ANA. Engraved plates of the Capitol and the statue of "Freedom" have been used to create an extraordinary collectible. The intaglio impression of the Capitol has been printed in blue and the statue has been executed in brown ink. The Capitol (miscellaneous die #10659) vignette was engraved in 1922 by Joachim C. Benzing and Louis Schofield, while the statue (miscellaneous die #8890) was engraved in 1915 by Louis

Schofield. A mail order form for this print has also been included for your ordering convenience. This is a limited edition print, therefore purchases are limited to five intaglio prints per person. The earliest you may order intaglio prints is two weeks in advance of the first day of sale.

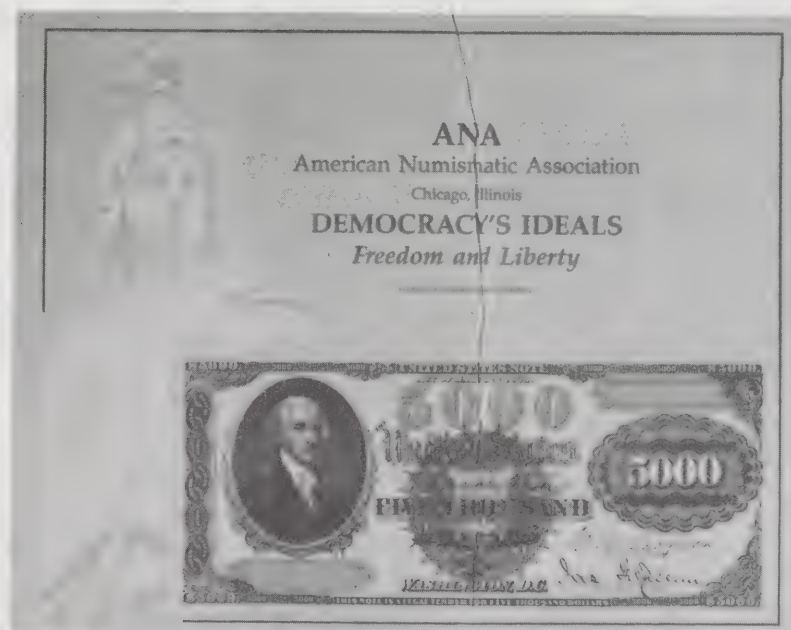

Background Information -

James Madison, as the organizer of interstate conventions which led to the Constitutional Convention, has been called the "Father of the Constitution." He is credited with creating much of the Virginia Plan which was used as the basis for the Constitution, and was the leader of the group that won ratification for the State of Virginia. He also contributed to the Federalist Papers which explained the philosophies and value of the newly formed democracy. As a member of the first U.S. Congress, Madison sponsored the Bill of Rights Amendments and helped prepare legislation that established departments of the Executive Branch.

As the U.S. Secretary of State (1801-1809), Madison was involved with the purchase of the Louisiana Territory. His popular support waned when as president (1809-1817), he led the nation to war in 1812. Although, the War of 1812 did not solve many of the issues which brought the nation to war, it did establish the United States as an independent world entity.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing
Features Rare and Unissued Stamps at Stampshow

The Stampshow Souvenir Card features a unique arrangement of two unissued postage stamps and a "Victory Issue". Stampshow will be held at the Philadelphia Civic Center, August 22-25, 1991 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The Bureau's educational display will focus on rare and historical sheets of stamps and will also include a new exhibit of the Numismatic Stamp which will be issued at the American Numismatic Association's show in Chicago, Illinois on August 13, 1991.

The Souvenir Card -

The stamps on the Stampshow Souvenir Card celebrate peace. Unfortunately, the 2¢ and 5¢ commemorative stamps were never issued. They were meant to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Treaty of Ghent, signed at the end of the War of 1812. However, it seemed inappropriate to issue a "peace" stamp at the very outbreak of World War I. The third stamp is a "Victory Issue" commemorating the armistice, ending WWI, signed at Compiegne, France on November 11, 1918.

The designs of all three stamps are credited to Bureau of Engraving and Printing designer, Clair A. Huston. The 5¢ Treaty of Ghent stamp was engraved by C. Chalmers (picture) and E.M. Hall (lettering), while the 2¢ commemorative was engraved by H.L. Chorlton (picture) with two Bureau engravers completing the lettering, F. Lamasure and E.M. Hall. The "Victory Issue" was engraved by M.W. Baldwin (picture) and E.M. Hall (lettering and frame.)

The blind embossed figure of "Freedom" was created from a photograph of the plaster model, used to cast the bronze statue which surmounts the Dome of the Capitol. The Statue of Freedom was designed by Thomas Crawford in 1856 and cast in Washington, D.C. by Clark Mills in 1858. Placement of the nineteen-foot, six-inch statue was completed December 2, 1863.

Background Information -

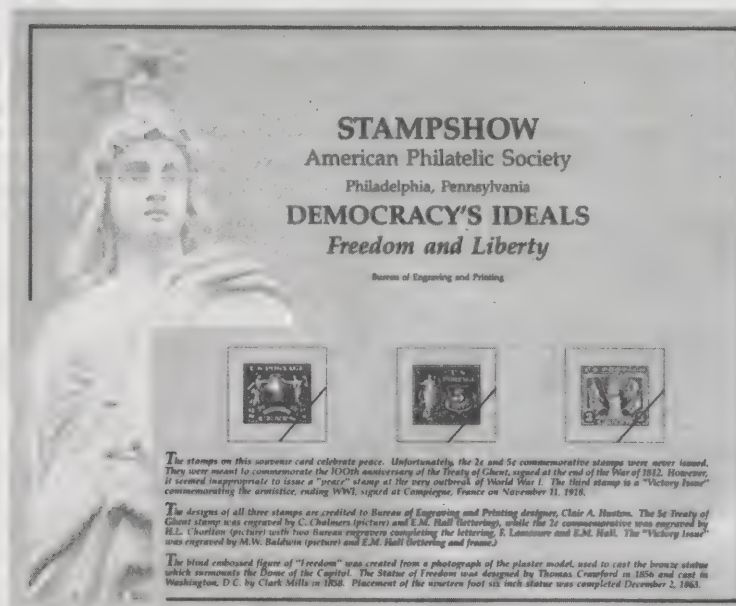

The War of 1812, was a war forced on an ill-prepared nation to assert its international right to cross the seas and develop trade. To defend this right and at the urging of the "War Hawks", a group of American congressmen determined to expand westward and annex Canada, the United States suffered the capture and burning of its Capitol, saw Admiral Perry win the battle of Lake Erie (1813), successfully defended Fort McHenry in Baltimore, and celebrated when Andrew Jackson repulsed an assault on New Orleans. Francis Scott Key wrote the Star Spangled Banner after witnessing the bombardment of Fort McHenry in 1814. The War of 1812 did not settle many of the disputes which caused the war, but it did see the U.S. emerge as an independent nation.

The Treaty of Ghent ended the War of 1812 and was negotiated by John Quincy Adams who later became the sixth president of the United States.

Bureau Announces 1992 Exhibit Schedule and Program Theme

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing will participate in four numismatic and two philatelic exhibits in FY 1992. The selected exhibitions offer a mixed geographical area of participation for the Bureau, and a unique mix of small and large sized shows.

In 1992 we celebrate the Quintennial Anniversary of Columbus' historic voyage. The Bureau of Engraving and Printing is commemorating this occasion with a distinctive selection of souvenir cards featuring rare currency notes and postage stamps. A distinctive background for the intaglio imprint of intricately engraved currency notes and stamps has been created for this year's souvenir cards. Each will contain a design derived from material created for the World's Columbian Exposition Diploma, an engraved print which was presented to international exhibitors at the Columbian Exposition (Chicago, Illinois in 1893),

* EXPLORE THE WORLD AND THE ART OF INTAGLIO PRINTING WITH  THIS BEAUTIFUL SERIES OF SOUVENIR CARDS!!

The sites selected for this year's exhibit program are:

*Florida United Numismatists -- FUN is the first numismatic exhibit that the Bureau will participate in under the 1992 exhibit schedule. A wide selection of currency will be complemented by a live demonstration on the Bureau's Spider Press. In addition to the availability of a souvenir card the Bureau will be issuing its first intaglio print of the year. The show will be held in Orlando, Florida - January 9-12, 1992.

Central States Numismatic Society -- CSNS will be held in Minneapolis, Minnesota April 30 - May 3, 1992. Creative and educational displays will debut at this event with the "Billion Dollar Exhibit."

World Columbian Stamp Expo -- WCSE is one of the largest shows since AMERIPEX in 1986. The show will be held in Chicago, Illinois May 22 - 31, 1992. This is the first philatelic show of the year for the Bureau. In addition to a hand-operated spider press, a special display and a tantalizing array of rare stamps will be featured at WCSE. The second intaglio print for the year will be issued at this show.

International Paper Money Show -- IPMS to be held on June 19-21, 1992 in Memphis, Tennessee, will host the Bureau's "Billion Dollar Display."

American Numismatic Association -- ANA. This national convention will be held August 12-16, 1992 in Orlando, Florida, and will feature the Spider Press and a collection of rare currency. The final intaglio print for the year will be sold starting on the first day of the show.

American Philatelic Society -- APS will be held in Oakland, California, August 27-30, 1992 and will host the Bureau's display of unperforated sheets of rare and unusual stamps.

The combination of historical materials (antique sheets of postage stamps and currency) special exhibits (such as the Paper Making Exhibit and Spider Press) form an interactive and educational forum for both collectors and the general public. There is something for everyone to enjoy. To commemorate the Bureau's participation in these exhibitions, a series of six souvenir cards will be issued, one for each event. Three intaglio prints will be offered under this year's program.

Details of the Souvenir Card Subscription Service will be made available in the very near future. Souvenir cards may also be purchased selectively as they are issued. Look forward to announcements for each souvenir card and intaglio print.

The Bureau's Exhibit Program Opens with FUN

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing will travel to the Orange County Convention Center in Orlando, Florida to participate in the Florida United Numismatists Show, being held January 9-12, 1992. The Bureau's contribution to the show includes an impressive array of antique currency; a new pictorial display which focuses on the 1992 theme, "The Historic Voyage"; a "Spider Press", an antique printing press, operated by one of the Bureau's best plate printers; and a demonstration featuring one of the Bureau's finest engravers.

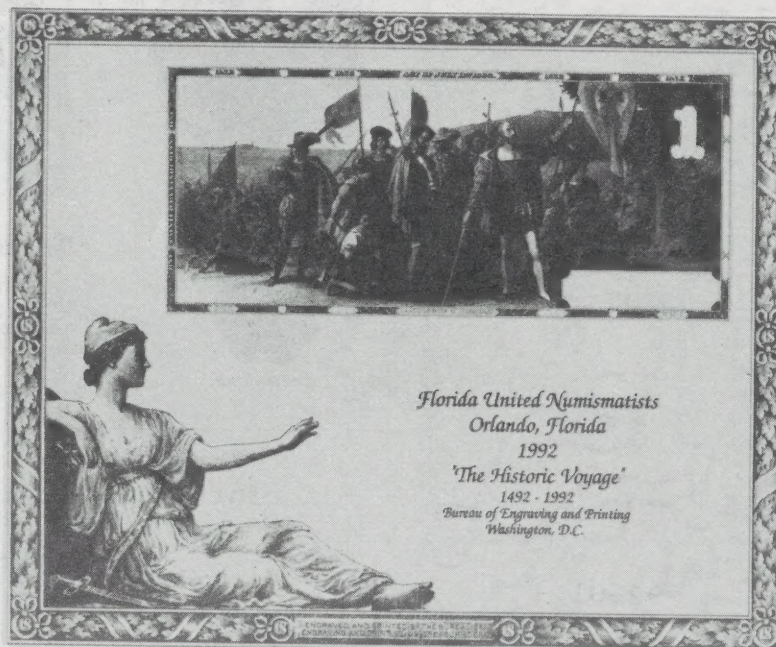

Souvenir Card --

The 1992 Souvenir Card Program's theme centers around the United States of America's celebration of the 500th Anniversary of Columbus' Historic Voyage, 1492 - 1992. The finely engraved note featured on the FUN Souvenir Card was created from an incomplete engraving of a $1 United States Note (original die #496). The engraved vignette titled the "Landing of Columbus" is based on a painting by John Vanderlyn. The fine line engraving for this die was executed by Lorenzo Hatch in 1869.

This note was one of a proposed series. This series was intended as substitutes for the designs on the faces of United States Notes already in circulation. Although work on the note was almost completed, "the necessities for other more immediately needed issues" caused the suspension of work on this series.

The die-stamped figure and border on the card are from the World's Columbian Exposition Diploma. The Diploma, an engraved print, was presented to international exhibitors at the Columbian Exposition held in Chicago, Illinois in 1893. Each Diploma was individualized with the exhibitor's name and contribution using "surface printing."

FUN Souvenir Card

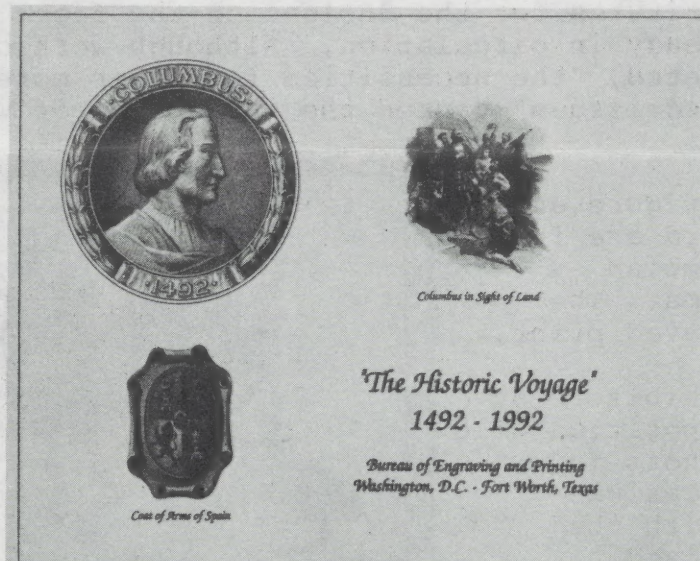

A mail order form for the FUN Souvenir Card has been included for your ordering convenience. The earliest you may order souvenir cards is two weeks in advance of the first day of sale. The Bureau reserves the right to limit the quantities and set the conditions under which this item is sold.

Intaglio Print --

The intaglio print for 1992 is graced by three beautifully engraved miscellaneous dies. The first of these dies, in the upper left-hand corner of the print, is a medallion of Christopher Columbus (miscellaneous die #8748) engraved by Schofield and Benzing for the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Certificate. This Exposition was held in San Francisco in 1915, and the Bureau was awarded the "Medal of Honor" for its display of artistic engravings. The second, in the upper right-hand corner of the print, is a more familiar vignette, titled "Columbus in Sight of Land", engraved by Joseph Ourdan in 1869. The third vignette is the "Coat of Arms of Spain" (miscellaneous die #3993). W.G. Phillips engraved the vignette in 1893 as part of the World's Columbian Exposition Diploma.

Intaglio prints, such as the one being issued at FUN, are limited editions of 3,000 prints. The FUN intaglio print is the first of three issues and has been printed with blue ink. The remaining two issues will be printed in red and green, and will be announced later in the year.

A mail order form for this print has also been included for your ordering convenience. This is a limited edition print, therefore, purchases are limited to five intaglio prints per person. The earliest you may order intaglio prints is two weeks in advance of the first day of sale.
